CHAPTER XIV.-CONTINUED. No time need be wasted in telling the effect of this "assignment to quarters." Prolifie a source of squabble as is the custom ashore it becomes intensified afloat, and, when coupled with it came a shaking up and rearrangement of seats at table, all hope of harmony vanished on the instant. The two brave young army girls still retained their seats at the captain's table; but two most estimable young women, Red Cross Harses, were dropped therefrom and transferred to that of the second officer on the port side, much to the comfort of a rather large percentage of their sist rhood who had regarded their previous elevation with feelings of not unmixed gratification. Then officers who had been seated with the general's staff had to vacate in favor of Mrs. Frank and Dr. Prober and Lient. B'lly Gray, whose father and the chief were long-time chums, and the Red Cross nurses who had been at the first officer's 12 be fell back to that of the ilire. It was every lit as good as the other, but it didn't outd so, and they couldn't se it: and there were faces sor as the product of the ship's baker who that evering all lands went down to dianer, and the Mence maintained, or the unitary & subdued tone of the tall, at the other tables was in narked contract with the Librity that prewill where sat the gray haired, rue dychecker and chief and the laughi e serie that I tered to the fun that fell from the ins of Wilchie Garrison. 'f carr of this kind ever entered into his heart, and he wondered as be looked at Billy's curly head what er ald have come ever that glad young Lardsome face.

One night, just one week later, Armstrong's eyes were opened. More than once in the meanwhile he had invited the young officer's confidence, and Billy. who three months earlier had been all gratitude and frankress, protested there was nothing on his mind. He had been very iil. that was all. As to Canker's charges they were simply rot. Be hadn't the faintest inkling what had become of the purloined letters any Pore than he had of the whereabours of his Delta Sig friend, young Morton, row officially proclaimed a deserter. CHAPTER XV.

Manila at last! Queen city of the archipelago, and Manila again besieged! The loveliest of the winter months was come. The Luneta and the Paseo de Santa Lucia, close to the sparkling waters, were gay every evening with the music of the regimental bands and thronged with the carriages of old-time residents and their new and not too welcome visitors. Spanish dames and damsels, invisible at other hours, drove or strolled along the roadway to enjoy the cool breezes that swept in from the beautiful bay and take wistful peeps at the dainty toilets of the American beiles now arriving by every hoat from Hong-Kong. All the Castilian disdain they might look and possibly feel toward the soldiery of Uncle Sam gave place to liveliest interest and curiosity when the wives and daughters of his soldiers oppeared upon the seene; and there was one carriage about which, whenever it stopped. a little swarm of officers gathered and toward which at any time all eyes were directed that of the White Sisters. Within the old walled city and in the crowded districts of Bimondo, Quiano and San Miguel north of the Pasig, and again in Paco and Ermita to the south, strong regiments were stationed in readiness to suppress the first sign of the outbreak so confidently predicted by the bureau of military intelligence. In a great semicircle of over 20 miles, girdling the city north, east and south. the outposts and sentries of the two divisions kept watchful eyes upon the insurgent forces surrounding them. Agninaldo and his cabinet at Malolos to the north had all but declared war npon the obstinate possessors of the city and had utterly forbidden their leaving the lines of Manila and seeking to penetrate those broader fields and roads and villages without. Still hugging to its breast the delusion that a semi-Malaysian race could be appeased by show of philanthropy, the government at Washington deereed that, despite their throwing up earthworks against and training gnns on the American positions, the enemy should be treated as though they never could or would be hostile, and the privileges denied by them to American troops were by the American troops accorded to them. Coming and going at will through our lines, they studied our force, our arms, equipment, numbers, supplies, methods; and long before the Christmas bells had clanged their greeting to that universal feast day, and the boom of cannon ushered in the new year, all doubt of the hostile sentiments of the insurgent leaders had vanished. Already there had been ominous clashes at the front; and with every day the demeanor of the Philippine officers and men became more and more in solent and defiant. Ceaseless vigilance and self-control were enjoined upon the iers of the United States, nearly al stalwart volunteers from the far west. and while officers of the staff and of the half-dozen regiments quartered within the city were privileged each day to stroll or drive upon the Lameta, there were others that never knew an hour with merriment; it was the face of the away from the line of the outposts and their supports. Such was the case with Stewart's regiment far out toward the waterworks at the east. Such was the case with the Primeval Dudes on the life to leave so deep a shadow on his other side of the Pasig, lining the banks of the crooked estnary that formed the Rubicon we were forbidden to cross. Such was the case with Canker and the of the White Sisters, probably a fortunate thing for all. Ever since that memorable night on the Queen of the Fleet, Gray had studiously avoided his whilom friend and counselor, while the latter's equally studious avoidance of Mrs. Garrison had become observed throughout the ship. The dominion and power of that little lady had been of brief duration. as was to be expected in the case of a woman who had secured for her undivided use the best, the airiest and by far the largest room on the steamera cabine de luxe indeed, that for a week's voyage on an Atlantic liner would have cost a small fortune, while bere for a sea sojourn of more than couble the time under tropic skies, and while other and worthier women were sweltering three in a stuffy box below, it had cost but a smile. And when the call to arms shivery, dripping sojourn at the San should sound, duty, honor and law Francisco camp.

Ent once fairly settled in Manila, the White Sisters seemed to regain all the old ascendency. Col. Frost had taken a big, cool, roomy house, surrounded by spacious grounds, down in Malate and close to the plashing waters of the bay. Duties kept him early and late at his office in the walled city; but every evening, after the drive and dinner, eallers came thronging in, and all Witchie's witcheries were called into play to charm them into blindness and tols were hidden in every house to eover Nita's fitful and nervous moods, now almost painfully apparent. and foreign residents in others, the Frost's face was at times a thundercloud, and army circles within the onter circle of Manila saw plainly that all was not harmony betwixt that veteran Benedict and that fragile, fluttering. baby wife. The bloom of Nita's beanty was gone. She looked wan, white, even haggard. She had refused to leave Hong-Kongorcome to Manila until Margaret's arrival, then flew to the shelter of that sisterly wing. Frank Garrison in their sleep and slay without mercy had been occupying a room under the same roof with his general, but both general and aide-de-camp were now this grewsome story, trembled in her much afield, and Frank spent far more I terror. For a time, in dread of this new days and nights along the line of block- peril. Nita Frost almost forgot the houses than he did at home. The coming of his wife was muannounced and nterly unlooked for. "Did I consult my lousband!" she exclaimed in surprise, when asked the question one day by the wife of a veteran field officer. "Merciful heaven, Mrs. Lenox, there was no time for that except by eable. and at four dollars a word. No! If any doubt of what Frank Garrison will say or do exists in my mind I go and do the thing at once, then the doubt is settled. If he approve, well and good; if he doesn't-well, then I've had my fun anyway."

But it made little difference what Frank Garrison might think, say or do when Nita's need came in question. 11 was for Nita that Margaret Garrison so sudgenly quitted the Presidio and hastened to Ilawaii. It was for her sake, to be her counsel and protection, the elder sister had braved refusal, difficulties, criticism, even Armstrong's onen suspicion and dislike, to take that long voyage to a hostile clime. That she braved, too, her husband's displeasure was not a matter of sufficient weight to merit consideration. She was there to help Nita; and until that hapless child were freed from a peril that, ever threatening, seemed sapping her very life, Margaret Garrison meant to stay.

Honolulu had told the elder sister of increasing jealousy and suspicion on nothing of each other, and but little the colonel's part, of his dreadful rage roosts-the top branches of tall forat Yokohama on learning that even est trees, shrouded by a mantle of there-the very hour of their arrivalwhen the consul came aboard with a batch of letters in his hand, he had one for Mrs. Frost. She had barely glanced at its contents before she was stricken with a fit of trembling, tore it in haif, and tossed the fragments on the swift ebbing tide, then rushed to her stateroom. There she added a postseript to the long letter penned to Margaret on thed into pathless thickets. the voyage; and the purser, not her husband, saw it safely started on the Gaelic, leaving for San Francisco via Honolulu that very day. That letter beat the ordinary mail, for the Queen was heading seaward, even as the Gaclic came steaming in the coral-guarded harbor, and a little packet was tossed aboard the new troop ship as she sped away, one missive in it telling Witchie Garrison that the man whose life had ber, and the iraced now by this selfish had repented him of his magnanimity been wrecked by her sister's enforced desertion was already in Manila awaiting her coming, and telling her, moreover, that the packet placed in Gen. She scoffed and scouted the rumor of Filipino outbreak. She laughed at Frost, who all too evidently believed in it and was in hourly trepidation. He begged that the guard at his quarters might be doubled, and was totally unnerved when told it might even have to be reduced. Not so Mrs. Frank. She made friends with the stalwart sergeant commanding; always had hot coffee and sandwiches ready for the midnight relief; made it a point to learn the name of each successive non-commissioned officer in charge, and had a winsome smile and word for the sentries as she passed. It wasn't Filipino aggression that she feared. The men wondered why she should so urgently bid them see that no strangers-Americans -were allowed within the massive gates. There were tramps, even in Manila, she said. When the sisters drove, their nutty little Filipino team flashed through the lanes and streets at top speed, the springy victoria bounding at their heels to the imminent peril of the cockaded hats of the dusky coach and footman, if not even to the seats of those trim, white-coated, big-buttoned top-booted, impassive little Spanish bred servitors. HUNTING IN CUBA.

Many Domestle Animals Have Run Wild and Yow Afford Excellent Sport.

In eastern Cuba Weyler's campaigns of extermination have led to an un expected result-a decided and probably permanent improvement of the local hunting grounds. Thousands of stampeded pigs, goats and chickens have taken refuge in the Sierras and become self-supporting enough to defy recapture. Practice has also improved their speed. Barnyard fowl have turned into wood birds and pass the night in almost inaccessible tangled vines. The Spanish settlers who imported pigs from Andalusia and Aragon would not recognize their descendants in the jungles of the Sierra de Cobre. Ordinary hunting dogs ean hardly venture to encounter the fierce boars that rush at every intruder of their lairs and stand at bay until their female relatives have scut-

It s the perfection of light at little cost and trifling labor, free from odor or anything objectionable. I have nothng but praise for the generator and the light it develops, and I am not speaking theoretically, but from my actual experience in my own residence."

In this connection, the 1899 report to the Governor of the State, of Mr. A. W. Stiles, secretary of the Girls' Industr'al Home, at Rathbone, O., regarding the Acetylene Gas plant in use in that institution, will be of interest to our readers.

Mr. Stiles says: "Our Acetylene Gas plant has given very gratifying results during the past year, the light from it being a very steady, white light, without smoke, by far superior and more satisfactory than that furnished by the old system used here. We now have about 600 burners, which can be increased, with but a very small outlay. to five times that number. We have had no trouble in getting all the carbide we need. Including all expenses incurred in remodeling and changing the (gas) plant to the present system, our lights have not cost us nearly so much for the year as did the system alandoned in July, 1898. There is no more danger in using it than there is in the use of any gas. We think it is the best light known, and requires but little kill in its manufacture."

The popul rity of this new illuminant attested by the fact that in the few ver, since it development into a coma relal possibility, over fifty thousand buildings have been successfully lighted by it, and the annual ratio of increase is becoming greater yearly. It is the ideal light for dwellings. Flores, churches and every building where artificial light is needed, and it is little wonder that the owners of indifferently lighted buildings are looking earnestly into the subject of lighting by Acetylene Gas.

FOR WOMAN'S HEALTH

Earnest Letters from Women Relieved of Pain by Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - Before I commenced to take your medicine I was in a terrible state, wishing myself dead a good many times. Every part of my body seemed to pain in some way. At time of menstruation my suffering was something terrible. I thought there was no cure for me, but after taking several bottles of Lydia L. l'inkham's Vegetable Compound all my bad feelings were gone. I am now well and enjoying good health. I shall always praise your medicine."-Mrs. AMOS FESCHLER, Box 226, Romeo. Mich.

Female Troubles Overcome "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I had female trouble, painful menses, and kidney complaint, also stomach trouble. About a year ago I happened to pick up a paper that contained an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I read how it had helped others, I thought it might help me, and decided to give it a trial. I did so, and as a result am now feeling perfectly well. I wish to thank you for the benefit your medicine has been to me."-Mrs. Clara Stieber, Diller, Neb.

No More Pain "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM :- Your Vegetable Compound has been of much benefit to me. When my menses first appeared they were very irregular. They occurred too often and did not leave for a week or more. I always suffered at these times with terrible pains in my back and abdomen. Would be in bed for several days and would not be exactly rational at times. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and menses became regular and pains left me entirely."-MRc. E F. Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy

Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will come in its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic, flesh-destroying plasters. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisonous, effete matter before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S.S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful purifying properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Mrs. R. Shirer, La Plata, Mo., writes: "A small pimple came on my jaw about one inch below the ear on the left side of my face. At first it gave me no trouble, and I did not think it was anything serious until the jaw began to swell and became much inflamed. At the same time the sore began to spread and cut into the flesh, and gave me intense pain. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. I then began the use of S. S. S., and after taking several bottles the Cancer healed, and there is now no sign of the disease. This was two years ago, and I am still enjoying perfect health."
